

9/11/2024

James Fabius

Chief Executive Officer

Atlas Guide Corp.

Stamford, Connecticut U.S.A.

To Whom This Concerns,

Logistics is defined as the detailed coordination of a complex operation involving many people, facilities, or supplies.

There are parts of the world in dire need of supply-chain upgrades. Access to fresh food and medicine are difficult due to incompetence and poor societies for fertility of development of proper logistics for all zones of their economies.

The past eras of financial exclusion by capital markets that caused the situations of inequity for the innocent should be demolished for a new ethos of better logistics, better ideas, and better people with better intents.

The "AGC Logic" project has the goal of upgrading, rebuilding and generating adequate supply-chains that provide in surplus, without waste, food as well as healthcare for the most impoverished.

With a new focus on cold chain logistics where there isn't enough, and where naturally in demand, 712-million people living in extreme poverty will be relieved more to take part in economy as a vital participant in economic growth cycles.

The logistics business obviously has not been existent enough in certain regions of the world in order to provide the adequate level of economic and societal fair sought as ideal. With AGC Logic an experiment of supply-chain upgrades can occur for the best of humanity and economy as a whole.

The standard of high care and luxury grade has yet to make contact with certain economic functions of the most economically deprived regions of the world. With a new world class standard of logistics care the potential of the consumer base can begin to expand for best economic results.

To Atlas Guide Corp. logistics is ideation, project management, organization development, and precise supervision. We want to develop a luckier brand of logistics care to the sectors most deprived of them; that will most certainly spur economic boon once resolved as sought by Atlas Guide Corp.

Consideration of all sectors of society must take part in resolving operational disruptions causing less than ideal circumstance to not just supply-chains but entire sectors of total economy.

I don't want to seem to attempt to brag, but my experience in career has given me optimal choice standard in quality of each terminal of a value chain of the given sectors that I seek to enter as an entrepreneur-economist.

The goal of Atlas Guide Corp. is to bring to world class standard to the supply-chains most economically deprived. Atlas Guide Corp. obviously seeks collaborations, partnerships and support in its new business project AGC Logic. AGC Logic is meant to be a global project with maximal global and economic implications.

I hope that we can collaborate for our better economies.

Sincerely,

James Fabius

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'James Fabius', with a stylized flourish at the end.